I had been to the top of the Empire State Building a few times before, but I had never gotten to view the city from the top. The Empire State Building is easily one of my favorite buildings in New York. I love how it looks like a giant piece of Lego in the middle of Manhattan, and the glass exterior makes it a great place to get pictures. At night it is lit up from the inside, which makes it look even better. However, I couldn't help but feel a little sad about leaving the Empire State Building. Thanks to my good friend, Tara, I managed to score tickets to the New York Knicks game that night. I had to fight really hard for those tickets, and they were actually hard to come by. During my trip I also managed to spend time with the girls and go to a few Red Hook Lobster Shacks. It was great seeing everyone and eating all the good food they had to offer! About Me I'm a college student living in New York City. I love photography and adventure. I enjoy spending time with friends and family. I also have a love for writing, so this blog is all about my life, travel, and photography. Thanks for reading!1899 in Spain Events in the year 1899 in Spain. Why Try Harder.rar Synthesis and antimalarial activity of some aryltin acetate analogues. Reaction of an excess of SnCl₂(2) with 2-pyridylacetonitrile in N,N-dimethylformamide led to the formation of 2-(2-pyridyl)-6-phenyltinacetonitrile as a 1:1 mixture of diastereomers in 66% yield. This compound was further treated with acetate anhydride in the presence of anhydrous pyridine at room temperature in anhydrous CHCl₃ to afford, in 60% yield, a mixture of 4-methyl-2-(2-pyridyl)-6-phenyl-1,3,5-triazin-2-yl)benzoate (I) and 4-methyl-2-(2-pyridyl)-6-phenyl-1,3,5-triazin-2-yl)-benzoic acid (II). These acetates were evaluated for their in vitro antimalarial activity against the W2 strain of Plasmodium falciparum. I and II were also tested against the FVO strain of P. falciparum.
